To help the government fight the funding of terrorism and money laundering activities, federal law requires all financial institutions to obtain, verify, and record information that identifies each person or entity opening an account or establishing a credit relationship with the financial institution, and key individuals who own or control a legal entity (i.e., the beneficial owners). Requiring these disclosures helps law enforcement investigate and prosecute these crimes. What this means for you: If you are an individual, when you open an account or apply for credit, we will ask for your name, address, date of birth, social security number (SSN is used for identification purposes only, unless authorizing personal credit review for a guaranty), and other information that will allow us to identify you. We may ask to see your driver's license or other identifying documents. If you are a business or entity, we will ask for information about your entity, including its tax identification number, address, and documents evidencing legal incorporation, formation, or existence. We may also request information about your owners, directors and executive officers, and guarantors.

By signing below, the undersigned individual, who is either a principal of the credit applicant or a personal guarantor of its obligations, provides written instruction to Lessor or its designee and any assignee or potential assignee thereof (each, a "Designee") authorizing review of his/her personal credit profile from a national credit bureau, as well as obtaining bank and/or other credit information as required. Such authorization shall extend to obtaining a credit profile in considering this application subsequently for the purposes of update, renewal or extension of such credit or additional credit and for reviewing or collecting the resulting account. Notwithstanding the fact that Lessor provides commercial services to which certain consumer communication laws do not apply, you consent to contact by Lessor or its Designee using any information you provide to Lessor and understand that such information may be used to deliver autodialed, prerecorded, and text based messages, including via mobile phone and email, for telemarketing, collection, and other business purposes. A photostat or facsimile copy of this authorization shall be valid as the original. By signature below, I/we affirm my/our identity as the respective individual/s identified in the application received.
